

---

Ideas are the natural focus of the developed mind. In our society, which is drowning in childish imagery, what is left out of artwork is as important as what is put into it.

